Work Started On McCarthy Censure Report

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—A six-member committee tackles today the task of drafting a report on the official conduct of Sen. McCarthy with every sign it will ignore his attack on fairness of its legal staff.

The report, which may be critical of some of the Wisconsin senator's activities, is to act as a guide to the Senate when it returns later this year to consider whether or not McCarthy's conduct merits censure.

Tried To Be Fair

As the public censure hearings wound up late Monday, Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) said that E. Wallace Chadwick, the committee counsel and Guy G. de Faria, his assistant, had "tried their level best to be fair" in presenting evidence on five main categories of charges leveled at McCarthy.

But McCarthy and his lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams, contended that Chadwick and De Faria had been acting as prosecutors. They indicated they believe any report to which the two attorneys contribute will hold that McCarthy overstepped the bounds on one or more of the principal counts against him.

And McCarthy said he was "still disturbed by a statement of Sen. Watkins that the jury doesn't have to be impartial."

This was a reference to Watkins' previous statement that many members of the Senate have taken sides for or against McCarthy, and that they cannot for that reason be disqualified from voting when the Senate considers the censure issue.

Zwicker Denies Arrogance

Watkins made the statement early in the censure hearings when McCarthy questioned whether Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) could give an impartial verdict in view of some previous statements about McCarthy. McCarthy and Johnson later shook hands publicly. The Coloradoan has assured McCarthy he is impartial.

Much of Monday's final session of hearings was given over to the testimony of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, whom McCarthy has been accused of abusing when the general appeared at a closed hearing of McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee in New York last Feb. 18.

Zwicker, in a lengthy verbal fencing duel with Williams, maintained he had not intended to be evasive or arrogant, as McCarthy contends he was. And Zwicker insisted he saw no inconsistencies in his testimony then. McCarthy has accused him of misstating facts.

Slide Smashes Homes In Japan

TOKYO (AP)—A typhoon-loosened earthslide crushed or damaged 400 houses today in the southern village of Minakami and national police reported 40 persons missing.

The big typhoon which ripped across southern Japan Monday whirled across the Japan Sea today, but it had lost much of its force and ranks now as only a wind storm.

National police said the storm left at least 41 dead, 163 injured and 36 missing in addition to the missing at Minakami.

Thousands were homeless and water and wind damage to homes, farms, shipping and communications was enormous. The Construction Ministry estimated damage to government property alone would exceed 4½ million dollars.

The Nippon Times said 82 small boats were sunk and 237 were damaged.

No Plans Made For Four-Lane Straits Highway

By JAMES A. O. CROWE

LANSING (AP)—The State Highway Department has no present plans for a north-south freeway to serve the new Mackinac Straits Bridge, despite local booms for separate routes.

State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler said today that plans now on the drawing boards call for four-lane construction on US-131 only as far north as Rockford and on US-27 as far north as Harrison. For US-23 there are no present four-lane plans.

Traffic Counts Scanned

Communities along the three routes are banding together to boom their own roads for four-lane construction from the south state line to the straits, where the bridge is scheduled to be completed in 1957.

But Ziegler said today that, so far at least, none of the routes turn in traffic counts that justify any more four-lane construction than now planned.

US-131, which runs through Grand Rapids, Cadillac and Kalkaska on the west side of the state, Ziegler said, shows an average of 4,800 or more cars a day—the requirement for four-lane construction from Grand Rapids to Rockford.

Long Range Program

The extension of the four lanes to Harrison is presently planned on a long range basis, he added, as money becomes available. It could easily take 20 to 30 years, he conceded, unless the money became available sooner from such a source as the proposed 500 million dollar highway bond issue.

Ziegler had little to say about the proposed US-23 route from Bay City along Lake Huron except that present traffic figures would hardly justify any four-lane pavement.

"Of course," he said, "if the bridge attracts the average of 10,000 cars a day that the Mackinac Bridge Authority says it will, we are going to have to revise our plans to extend four-lane pavement farther north."

He would not speculate, however, on whether one of the three possible routes would get the four lanes, and if so, which one.

Wife Of Dr. Small Seeks Separation From Freed Slayer

DETROIT (AP)—A suppressed divorce suit has been filed on behalf of Mrs. Edith S. Small against Dr. Kenneth B. Small, the acquitted slayer of his wife's suitor.

Mrs. Small filed the suit last Thursday, the day after the Detroit dentist was freed from Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane. Details of the suit will not be made public until proceedings reach open court.

Dr. Small shot and killed Jules Charles M. Ziegler said today that plans now on the drawing boards call for four-lane construction on US-131 only as far north as Rockford and on US-27 as far north as Harrison. For US-23 there are no present four-lane plans.

The 31-year-old dentist was found innocent of the slaying by reason of insanity. Last week he was found sane and released.

Students Strike, Demand Return Of Segregation

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Five days of integration in Greenbrier County schools was ended today after school officials, confronted with angry parents and striking white students, ordered an immediate return of segregation.

The high school here was closed a half day to allow 25 Negro students, under police protection, to secure their books and return to their own schools.

Force Threatened

Some 600 parents protesting integration had threatened at a mass meeting Monday night to remove bodily any Negroes who attempted to attend White Sulphur Springs High today.

In nearby Lewsburg, the county seat, the school board ordered an immediate return to separate schools for Negroes and whites. The segregation order came after an all-day meeting.

After the meeting, which began at 9 a. m. and ended 13 hours later, School Supt. D. D. Harrah issued a statement which said:

"The board hereby directs all principals to transfer all tentative enrollments of Negro students to Bolling High School (the Negro School) or to their nearest Negro elementary school, this policy effective immediately."

No Negroes Wanted

Monday's demonstration involved about 300 of the 440 students enrolled at the high school. They marched through the streets of this mountain resort town, just 5 miles from the Virginia line, with placards reading, "no Negroes wanted in our schools."

Another demonstration was staged at Rupert, about 33 miles northwest of here where some 100 students also marched through the streets, protesting 14 Negroes attending their school.

The demonstrations were the first by the students since U. S. supreme court last May held segregation in public schools was unconstitutional.

State School Supt. W. W. Trent recommended immediate integration but left the decision with the individual county boards. Greenbrier, Marion and Barbour counties opened schools a week ago with Negroes attending classes with whites.

Parents protested in this county and in Marion County, some keeping their children home, others picketing the schools.

Schools are still integrated in the other two counties, both in northern West Virginia.

Public school segregation ended quietly in the District of Columbia and in a small school district in western Arkansas.

Soviet Vote Blocks New Members In U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—A special U. N. Committee on Admissions says it sees no way out of the Soviet-Western impasse barring 21 applicants for membership in the international organization.

The negative report to the General Assembly by the three-member Good Offices Committee was made public Monday night.

A Soviet veto in the Security Council has blocked 14 of the applicants. The others have failed to win the necessary seven votes in the 11-member council.

Britain Offers Plan To Add West Germany And Italy To NATO

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

ROME (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Italian Foreign Minister Attilio Piccioni reached "full agreement" on the European defense situation in a three-hour conference today, a spokesman said.

They discussed the new British plan for extending the five-nation Brussels alliance to include West Germany and Italy. This is the substitute Prime Minister Churchill's government is proposing for the now dead European Defense Community. It would allow West Germany to rearm within the North Atlantic alliance.

Fills Defense Gap

Similar agreement to Eden's proposals had been reported after his earlier visits to the West German capital of Bonn and the Belgian capital, Brussels.

Eden will leave Wednesday morning. Two days of conferences in Paris are on his schedule.

Official sources in London disclosed Monday night the new scheme to rearm West Germany within the Brussels pact to fill the defense gap left by France's killing of the EDC.

The 1948 Brussels treaty—runner of NATO—binds together Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg within the framework of the broader 14-nation organization. The five Brussels members are pledged to the military, political, economic

Puerto Ricans Tell Of Terrorist Plot To Kill Eisenhower

NEW YORK (AP)—A Puerto Rican Nationalist has testified that conspirators who masterminded the shooting in Congress last March 1 also planned an attack on President Eisenhower.

The testimony was given by Gonzales Lebron Sotomayor Monday at the trial of 13 Puerto Ricans charged with seditious conspiracy to overthrow the U. S. government by force and violence.

The witness is a brother of Dolores Lolita Lebron, who was seized along with three men after they spattered bullets into the House of Representatives, wounding five congressmen. The four already have been sentenced to terms of 16 to 50 years in prison for the shooting.

Miss Lebron is one of the 13 now on trial for conspiracy before Federal Judge Lawrence E. Walsh and a jury. The sessions continue today.

Another defendant is Julio Pinto Gandia, who Lebron Sotomayor said had told him of plans for attacks on Congress, "the Presidency" and on Fernos Isern, resident commissioner for Puerto Rico. The witness said this was in November, 1953, when Gandia was a Nationalist party leader in New York.

The Nationalist party seeks complete independence for Puerto Rico. This aim is opposed by the majority of Puerto Ricans who turned down an offer of independence and voted to become a commonwealth of the United States.

Lebron Sotomayor has pleaded guilty to the charge of seditious conspiracy and testified as a government witness while being held in $25,000 bail pending sentencing. He described himself as a former chief of the Chicago junta of the Nationalist party.

Nashville Jail Closing Illegal

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Ruling that Mayor Ben West's order to empty the old city jail was a violation of the Nashville charter, City Judge Andrew J. Doyle has ordered the 31 prisoners re-arrested.

The order now probably will be bounced to the city legal department for an opinion. John Milliron, police chief, said he would ask the department what he can do legally after he is presented with the re-arrest orders.

Judge Doyle, ruling on a petition by a Nashville housewife, Mrs. E. J. Saverio, said Monday he would issue the orders as soon as the necessary information on the prisoners is obtained from court records.

Mayor West ordered the prisoners released last Wednesday after the Davidson County Health Department ruled that the city jail and workhouse building were unfit for human habitation.

"If I arrest them, I'll have to have some place to put them," said Milliron and he added if he put them in the county jail several problems would occur, including the housing expense.

The 31 were committed to the workhouse after failure to pay fines imposed by city court. The jail section of the building was used as a holdover for prisoners prior to sentencing.

Upset Steals Spotlight From Nine Primaries

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Maine, solidly Republican for two decades, elected a Democratic governor Monday to steal the political limelight from nine other states holding primaries today.

Voters in the nine states are picking party nominees for 5 Senate and 92 House seats and for 6 governorships. This will just about wind up selection of candidates to run in the Nov. 2 elections for control of the next Congress. New York State conventions and Rhode Island primaries later this month will conclude the preliminaries.

GOP Senator Wins

But it was the Maine election—traditionally held two months before those in the other 47 states—that attracted most of the political attention.

Edmund S. Muskie, 39-year-old Democratic National Committee member, ousted GOP Gov. Burton M. Cross in voting which Vice President Nixon had described in advance as "the first state test of the Eisenhower administration program."

Nixon had campaigned for the GOP ticket during a brief vacation in Maine, urging "an even greater majority than ever before" to herald Republican victories in the other 47 states in November.

Republican Sen. Margaret Chase Smith and the state's three GOP House members all won re-election, although veteran Rep. Robert Hale had a narrow squeak.

Most Incumbents Unopposed

Most incumbents seeking renominations today were unchallenged. But there were scraps for the Republican nomination for a two-year Senate term in New Hampshire, Democratic Senate races in Colorado and Massachusetts, and Democratic governor contests in Wisconsin and Massachusetts.

Sen. Robert W. Upton (R-NH) appeared the only one facing a tough fight among four senators seeking renomination. Unopposed were Sens. Styles Bridges (R-NH) and Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.). Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) had opposition, but he was regarded as an easy winner.

The seat of the fifth senator involved in today's biggest-of-the-year pre-election voting is that of the veteran Democratic senator from Colorado, Edwin C. Johnson, leaving the Senate voluntarily after 18 years. He is unopposed today for the gubernatorial nomination in Colorado.

Candidates for the Senate were being chosen in Colorado, Massachusetts, Minnesota, and New Hampshire (two seats). These states also picked governor candidates along with Vermont and Wisconsin.

Seaway Completion In 5 Years Foreseen

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Samuel D. Sturgis, chief of the Army Corps of Engineers, said Monday night that completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway in "some four or five years hence" was not an "unreasonable expectation."

Sturgis told delegates to the Great Lakes Harbors Assn. annual convention that the Army engineering corps has placed top priority on the job and that the government is already at work on design and looking into land acquisition.

Sturgis said that much has been said of the seaway as a national emergency measure. He added, however, that in his opinion, the main long-range value of the waterway lay in the general impetus it will add to industry and the "enhancement" of the nation's economic might.

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) told the convention banquet that federal assistance in harbor improvements will depend "directly on the enthusiasm, the interest and the initiative" displayed by local interests in each community touching on the seaway.

"We must realistically determine locations which can best demonstrate the great need and provide the widest benefit from the improvement," Ferguson said.

The convention ends today with election of officers.

Orders Sent Out For U.S. Fleet To Defend Quemoy

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Herald Tribune said today it was learned in Washington that the Eisenhower administration has issued orders to the United States 7th Fleet to give "full logistic support" to the Chinese Nationalists in their defense of the island of Quemoy.

A Washington dispatch to the Herald Tribune by Walter Kerr said:

"These instructions, which were issued a short time ago through the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the office of the chief of naval operations, do not rule out a more active role for American forces at a later date. However, they are considered to be adequate to the present military situation..."

Churches Cancel Illegal Bingo

NEW YORK (AP)—Numerous Roman Catholic churches throughout the city were reported today to have cancelled their bingo nights following a recent police crackdown on the game.

Although illegal, bingo has for some time been a source of revenue for many churches and veteran groups. Until a few weeks ago, police traditionally overlooked games run by religious and charitable groups.

The police anti-bingo campaign started in Brooklyn several weeks ago at the direction of the borough's morals squad chief. In the future kicked up by the apparent change in attitude toward bingo, the squad got a new chief. However, top police officials insisted the change had nothing to do with the drive against bingo and said the law banning the game would be enforced.

Newspapers making spot checks of church games Monday found without exception that they had been canceled. Some priests were quoted as saying they had stopped the games on their own initiative until the present "uncertainty" is settled. Others were said to have been visited by policemen who asked that the games be closed down "for a while."

Attlee Disapproves U. S. Fleet Action In Guarding Formosa

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP)—The British Labor party leader Clement Attlee told reporters here today he "definitely disapproves" of the U. S. 7th Fleet protecting the Chinese Nationalist area of Formosa and Quemoy.

"I disapprove of that action," he said, "but that is a matter for the United States." Attlee arrived here from Sydney. He and a group of Labor party leaders recently toured Red China.

On relations between Russia and Red China, Attlee said: "If Russia tried to exploit the Chinese or to order them around there would be a break. There are strong men at the top in China."

Small Coins Shower Mt. Pleasant Couple After Stunt On TV

MT. PLEASANT (AP)—Weary volunteers and friends of Charles and Margaret Deibel braced today for a second onslaught of pennies, nickels and dimes.

The coins have descended on the Deibels since last Friday when Mrs. Deibel appeared on Garry Moore's nationwide television show.

The audience was asked to send the Deibels a nickel. Thus far some 85,000 letters have arrived. And more are coming.

So far the take includes 20,000 nickels, 2,500 dimes, 2,400 pennies, 3,800 quarters and a wooden nickel from one disgruntled viewer.

Mrs. Deibel appeared on Moore's show while vacationing in New York with her husband.

In what the Deibels say was an unheeded bit of business, Moore called 26-year-old Margaret from the audience and asked how she'd like to be rich.

Mrs. Deibel said she wouldn't mind but she and Charlie, who is also 26, were satisfied with their modest way of life, and with their two children, one three years and the other five months old.

Moore thought that was fine. And he suggested his viewers make her rich anyway by sending a nickel apiece, Sunday night before the Deibels got back to Mt. Pleasant some 43,000 coin and currency filled letters were awaiting them.

Now the problem is getting the money counted. Nearly every piece of change has been painstakingly fastened down with sticky tape. Some of the coins are sewed inside the letters.

Seek Home For Neglected Child

Do you have a place in your home and heart for a neglected child from a broken family? If you do, the Michigan Children's Institute may be able to place a child with you temporarily, or permanently with the possibility of adoption.

Grant Parker, Marquette, representative of the Michigan Children's Institute, described the need for foster homes for neglected children and said that not enough homes are now listed to meet the need in Delta and other U. P. counties. He spoke Monday noon to the Escanaba Rotary Club at its meeting in the Delta Hotel.

Norman Thomas is Delta County representative of Michigan Children's Institute and his office is with the State Department of Social Welfare, 1215 Ludington.

Children Not Delinquent

The children for whom foster homes are sought are "victims of neglect—they are not delinquent," Parker said. They are children of parents found by the court to be unfit to care for them, and their placement in foster homes is supervised by the Michigan Children's Institute.

"We must find a good new home for these children. We must remove the child's fear and distrust and assure him that someone does care that he grows up to have a decent life," Parker said.

The foster parents receive the assistance of social workers in meeting the problem with patience and understanding, and most of the placements are successful, Parker said. There are failures, however, sometimes because there are not enough foster homes on the reserve list so that a child can be placed with people and in an environment to which his personality and behavior are best suited.

There are about 50 child wards of the state in boarding and foster homes in Delta County, Parker said.

State Aids Financing

The best interest and welfare of the child is given first consideration, and no child is placed in a foster home without the foster parents being carefully investigated.

Child wards of the state range in age from babies to 17 years of age, Parker explained. Those who are determined by the court to be permanent state wards may be adopted and many of them are, sometime after being in the foster home for a few weeks or a few years.

The state pays the foster parents an average of $9 per week for board, plus medical care, school expense and incidentals.

"There must be real love for the child by the foster parents," Parker explained. "The state assists in meeting the cost of the child's care in the home, but it is only through warm affection that the child's fear and distrust can be removed."

Cottager Kills Black Bear With One .22 Rifle Bullet

The black bear that has been foraging the pantry at the Ed Marenger cottage on Ostrander Lake, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Mike Morris, of South Beloit, Ill., won't bother the cottagers in that area any more.

Morris shot and killed the bear, a 150 pound yearling with one shot from a .22 rifle the other night, but not before the bear had made off with a beef roast.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris, hay fever patients, have been coming north for 17 years during the hay fever season, usually remaining about six weeks each year. They operate a farm in Illinois. For the past several years they have been staying at the Marenger cottage during their visits. The cottage is located on Ostrander Lake, a mile off Federal Forest Highway 13, 21 miles north of Nahma Junction.

A Repeat Visit

A week ago the black bear visited the cottage, tore a hole in the screen and made off with a sack of apples.

Friday night the bear made a repeat visit about one o'clock in the morning. Mrs. Morris, who admits that's she "scared to death" of bears' awakened to hear a noise in the back entry. She saw the bear tear another hole in the porch screen, jump in and grab a roast with a cover, containing a beef roast.

The bear jumped back out through the hole in the screen, still carrying the roast, cover and all. Outside the cottage, the bear deftly lifted the cover off the roast, took out the succulent roast and ambled away.

Mrs. Morris awakened her husband, who retrieved the roast and cover.

As they returned to the kitchen of the cottage, Mr. and Mrs. Morris heard another noise near the kitchen window.

Killed With One Shot

To their amazement, they looked up to see Mr. Bruin peering in at them from the kitchen window.

Mr. Morris loaded a .22 caliber rifle that was in the cottage for such an emergency. He opened the casement window of the cottage. The bear didn't move. Morris fired a bullet at the animal's neck. The bear bellowed and scrambled away.

The following morning a neighbor, Mrs. Reuben Hirn, found the carcass of the animal about 300 feet from the cottage.

Conservation department officers were notified and claimed the dead animal.

Now Mr. and Mrs. Morris, avid canasta fans, can return to their card games at night without fear of further visits from this particular bear.

When Mr. Morris returns to Illinois, he can boast about his prowess as a wild animal hunter. And he'll have this clipping to prove it, too.

Danger Of Frost Prevalent Tonight

The wind will be the big factor in the weather of this area tonight, weatherman S. E. Decker said today. If the wind does not hold steady at 10 m. p. h. during the night there may be frost, he added. Decker said that there was a possibility that the wind would die down about 3 a. m. and with the expected low temperature of 40 degrees frost would form in exposed areas. He said that he did not think that it could be a damaging frost. The high at Escanaba yesterday was 55 and the low last night was 43. It is expected to go up to the high 50's today.

Cool Canadian air pushed the rain south of the north central states where it had rained most of Sunday and Monday. Today it is raining in the lower peninsula, Wisconsin and North Dakota. At Escanaba, the rain is still falling.

Children attending kindergarten in the Soo Hill and Danforth areas will be picked up during the noon hour by Bus No. 1, driven by Harold Anderson and transported to the Soo Hill school.

Bridge Project Gets Approval

The Delta County Road Commission today signed a bid for a $22,500 improvement of the West Gladstone bridge on county highway 420. If the bid is accepted by the State Highway Commission and the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, the County Commission will be able to begin repairs on the 200-foot steel span.

Half the cost of the work will be absorbed by the Federal government and the other half must come from the county. An additional half mill of property tax has been diverted to the county this year and it is anticipated that this additional revenue will be adequate to meet the county's half of the cost.

At present the span has a load limit of 5,000 pounds per axle, which limits traffic to passenger automobiles and empty trucks. The Escanaba township school bus is forced to travel an extra 34 miles each day because it cannot cross the bridge.

"This is only a start," Highway lifts, jumps, etc.

Otto Schmidt won many honors in the field of physical education, particularly when he was at Ohio State University, and he is considered one of the finest weight lifters and gymnasts in the country.

Hurricane Fury Told By Former Escanaban

Mrs. M. G. Clark of Auburn, Mass., a suburb of Boston, in a recent letter to her sister, Mrs. Clinton E. Groos, of Groos, gave a graphic description of the fury of Hurricane Carol and the devastation left by it in the Boston vicinity. Mrs. Clark will be remembered as the former Laura Godin of this city. Her husband, M. G. "Hap" Clark is nationally known in scouting circles as regional director of region one, comprising the New England states.

Excerpts from the letter follow: "August 31 was the last day of Hap's vacation, and we slept until 9:30 a. m. It had been raining most of the night, and when we heard the rain and wind, we remarked that it sounded like we were in for a good old sou-wester. We turned on the radio while preparing breakfast, and the report on Hurricane Carol came in that it was changing direction and heading for Rhode Island, but that meant that we would feel it, but no definite impact was known then.

Wind Terrific

"The wind was terrific, and we started to check on our porch and yard and to batter down anything that needed it. It was useless to try to go out, so we just watched the trees bending over and the air filling with debris. The lawn was soon covered deep with branches and shingles. All light weight things like leaves, papers, etc., were ground up by the wind, and for instance, all across the front of our house, from top to bottom, were plastered fine pieces of green leaves, as if we had spatter painted it."

"The sound of the wind was as if a large fleet of bomber planes was flying low over the house continuously, and the force of the wind and the rain seemed to push in the sides of the houses, and bend in the windows. It was difficult to see what was happening because the air was so thick with debris. We heard some very sharp cracks and saw some large parts of trees fall—but the strange thing was that from tremendous size trees fell from being completely uprooted, they silently and apparently slowly and sadly went over. The electricity went off at 11:10 a. m., and the telephones went off about the same time. When the height of the storm seemed reached and the rain lighter, Hap and I went out in it. Most of the neighbors were at their windows, but wouldn't venture out. We didn't stay out too long because of the electric wires and poles down everywhere.

Considerable Damage

"Hap, with his Boy Scout axe, did help a lot of people, who were helpless without his aid. Where a huge tree had crashed into the window, leaving rain and debris in, Hap chopped off the offending branch, and temporarily closed off the window, first clearing the broken glass. The street was flooding rapidly, and Hap raked out the leaves from the drains where the water went down in a hurry. He chopped almost the whole day long, getting paths open everywhere on our street. The damage on our street was terrible—that is on the Charles River side especially, not on our side.

"Across the road from our neighbors lost every tree—big trees that had stood up under the last big hurricanes—maples and

Sportsmen's Club Will Meet Tonight

The regular meeting of the Delta County Sportsmen's Club at 7:30 this evening in Carpenter's Hall will be chiefly concerned with club house plans.

Two outdoor meetings have been held by the sportsmen to inspect buildings and sites that have been proposed to solve the club housing problem. Important cost figures are now known to the committees and club members, at tonight's meeting, will be asked to make the decisions that will result in the club securing a home of its own.

It is also expected that some preliminary information on plans for the M. U. C. C. convention here in June 1955 will be ready at this meeting.

Following the business session entertainment will feature more of Bill DeCock's movies of outdoor sports.

Eagles Have Father And Son Banquet

The fourth annual Father and Son banquet was held at the Eagle's clubrooms Sunday.

The program was opened by a prayer with Chaplain Jack Laundre. The dinner was served by the ladies of the auxiliary headed by Mesdames Ruby Swanson and Mildred Walker.

Worthy President Bernard O'Donnell welcomed those present on behalf of the Aerie.

Aerie officers were introduced by Arthur Servant who served as toastmaster of the banquet.

The main address of the evening was delivered by the Rev. Fr. Charles Carmody of St. Thomas Church.

Power Study Is Begun For City

Charles R. Podas, associate engineer for Pfeiffer and Schultz, electrical engineering firm of Minneapolis retained by the city to make a study of Escanaba's power shortage problem, today began work on the survey.

Podas said the study will require about 60 days to complete and that a report will be made to the City Council.

The scope of the study, as defined by the city, will include the following:

1—Analyze a proposed contract offered the city of Escanaba by the Alger-Delta Electric Cooperative Association to supply the city with electric power for 10 years from a Rural Electrification Administration-financed generating plant to be built in the city.

2—Analyze a proposal of the Upper Peninsula Power Company of Houghton to purchase the city's electric distribution system for $1 million and supply the consumers with private power from a generating plant to be built in Escanaba.

3—Analyze a proposal under which the city would construct and operate a municipal electric generating plant.

4—Present the advantages and disadvantages of the three proposals in a report to the City Council.

The cost of the study by Pfeiffer and Schultz, assigned to that firm after bids were taken, is $2,450.

Pfeiffer and Schultz is the consulting firm also retained by the city of Gladstone in the construction of its municipal power plant.

Cancer Society Meets In Escanaba

The Upper Peninsula division of the Michigan Cancer Society met yesterday afternoon at the House of Ludington for their annual regional meeting.

Boyle, Bark River, treasurer; Dr. John Clay, Dr. J. E. Rodgers and Dr. G. E. Huron, Menominee, and Mrs. A. M. Gilbert, Escanaba, past commander.

Discussions at the meeting were about the spring campaign for 1955.

Recruiting Drive Is Opened By Co. C

Starting with this evening's drill, Company C 107th Engineers will launch its fall enlistment drive. Capt. Roy J. Johnson, company commander, said the aim is to build the engineer unit up to at least three full working platoons. This will better enable the unit to operate as an engineer unit at field training and in the army training programs.

Enlistments are open to qualified young men 17 to 35 years of age. New enlistments will receive nine weeks of basic recruit training here at the local army, and they then can be assigned to fill specialist vacancies in the platoons. Veterans are especially welcome, and may be enlisted in the grade they held previously, if the job is open for them in the company.

Lt. George C. Anderson has been named recruit drive director, with M-Sgt. Nels Sjoquist as assistant. The drive will continue until midnight, Oct. 23, and will climax with a banquet and a full dress military dance. The platoon bringing in the least number of recruits for the above period of time will have to arrange the banquet, and serve the winning platoon. All guardsmen will be eligible to attend the meal and dance with a guest. A program committee has been working out an entertainment schedule for the evening.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

Immunity Provision May Prove To Be Big Weapon Against Reds

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, has reported that the FBI has already been approached by Communists who have indicated a desire to take advantage of the recently enacted law that permits immunity from prosecution under certain conditions for those willing to testify against former fellow conspirators.

This may well turn out to provide the most potent weapon thus far available for cracking down on subversive activities.

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

Just the other day we had occasion to comment on the various theories of the origin of the word "cocktail." Though generally considered the characteristic American drink, there is wide disagreement among word authorities as to how the name originated. Many, indeed, believe it to be of European origin, derived either from the French "coquetel" or the British "cock-ale"—both drinks popular in Europe long before the first recorded use of "cocktail" in this country.

My correspondent raised the question as to whether there was any connection between "tail of the cock" and "hair of the dog"—which there certainly is not. This latter term, however, has quite an interesting history.

The theory—and a most unsound one it is—that the best remedy for a hangover is another drink ("the hair of the dog that bit you") goes back to ancient times. The Romans believed that the best antidote for a dog bite was the burnt hair of the dog that bit you. They even had a proverb "Similia similibus curantur"—like things cure like—to express this belief.

Another reader asks the origin of the phrase "cock and bull story," meaning a rambling, fanciful tale. Well, the origin of this phrase probably goes back at least as far as Aesop's Fables. From the earliest days of recorded history, man has used talking animals in his fables and the folk literature of all lands is full of stories in which animals walk and talk and act like humans. In medieval times throughout Europe these tales were collected into tomes called "bestiaries."

The French have a phrase "coq a l'ane" (cock to donkey) to describe such rambling yarns and it is likely that the English form was influenced by it, though the bull is substituted for the donkey. In any event the phrase was fixed once and for all in our language by one of the most imaginative and surely the most disconnected novel ever written in English, TRISTRAM SHANDY by Laurence Sterne, whose last lines read: "What is all this story about?—A cock and a bull, said Yorick—and one of the best of its kind I ever heard."

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

The buyer of a big men's specialty shop was widely known both for his chiseling tactics and his violent temper, but one salesman didn't look too crestfallen as he escaped from the tyrant's inner sanctum "True", he admitted to the lad who was waiting with his case of samples, "the so-and-so wouldn't even inspect my line and true also he made some derogatory comments on my habits and ancestors, but at least the fountain pen I hooked from his desk is a lulu!"

A University of Wisconsin sophomore bought a fifth-hand jalopy at a bargain sale, hastily picked up his date, jounced up a side lane just outside the campus, stopped the motor, and swept the girl into his arms. "Oh, Allan," she protested. "Why linger here? There are more secluded

Communist intrigue undoubtedly has caught in its web a number of shallow thinkers who later found it extremely difficult to extricate themselves from the Communist leadership. The immunity from prosecution statute now opens a gateway to freedom for these people. At the same time, it opens a new avenue for information on the workings of the Communist groups and their plotting against the United States government.

Hoover estimates that there are in the United States now about 25,000 Communist party members, the lowest number in years, according to the FBI chief. However, Hoover points out, those who remain in the party are the die-hards, the toughies, the fanatics, completely loyal to the authority of the Kremlin.

The 83rd Congress provided other strong weapons, too, in the fight against Communism, including a statute that outlaws the Communist party and provides the means for cracking down on Red-infiltrated labor unions.

Russia's tremendous struggle for international power and territorial aggression makes it imperative that we use every weapon at our command to break up any potential fifth column within our country.

You're Working For The Government

CITIZENS Public Expenditure Survey defines a taxpayer as "one who doesn't have to pass a civil service exam to work for the government."

The average man in the $4500 bracket works one day in every three to earn tax money alone! If he is employed on the usual 40-hour, five-day week basis, he works more hours to pay his taxes than he does to meet both his housing and clothing needs.

That's a bleak picture. But a ray of sunlight is found in the fact that the new federal budget marks a reduction from its predecessors—and that the tax cuts proposed by the Administration and authorized by Congress have provided us with some measure of relief.

Now the hope is that larger cuts in both spending and taxes will be possible in the future. Practically everyone, in and out of government, wants that. But the goal will be impossible of attainment unless it is honestly supported by the public at large. That means we must do much more than just advocate economy as a vague general principle. We must be willing to approve economy moves when they directly affect us—not the other fellow only. Long ago it was said that the people get the kind of government they deserve, and that goes for fiscal affairs as well as everything else.

Steady people often are kept that way by bank robberies.

Mothers put up with a lot of things, but their best bets are the fruits in season.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Maine's election for United States senator and governor will be talked about this week nationally not so much because of the saying—"As goes Maine so goes the nation"—but because it is the only state holding a congressional election in September, and it's therefore the first national test of the strength of the two major parties. It is always worthwhile examining each of the party percentages to see whether it is above or below other years.

What is said by the partisan leaders after an election is usually an alibi if there's a defeat, just as an exaggerated emphasis is given if there's a victory. So this time a pre-election forecast is presented which this correspondent obtained from a private conversation with an important Republican leader who naturally didn't want to have his name used. It will be interesting after all the votes have been counted to compare his pre-election analysis with the actual totals for each party. Here is a man who has held high office himself, and who might be described as a Taft Republican and hence not politically friendly in the past to Senator Margaret Chase Smith, who was on the Eisenhower side in the 1952 pre-convention fight.

Mrs. Smith won the senatorial race in 1948 by a majority of 96,000 and it was just about twice as big as the majority by which Dewey carried the state in November. It was twice as big a majority, too, as the successful Republican nominee for senator had received two years before.

ONE EVERY 20 YEARS

"Mrs. Smith will win again," said the anonymous prophet, "but by a reduced majority, perhaps 25,000 to 30,000 less than she did in 1948. That's because she will not get some of the Democratic votes she got in 1948 when she didn't hammer the Democrats as hard as she is doing this year. She has been making eight or ten speeches a day—good Republican speeches—and if the Republican candidate for governor pulls through she will be entitled to much of the credit for bringing out the party vote—especially the votes of disaffected Republicans."

"Is the governorship in doubt?" I asked. "Yes, it is close, and you must remember that two years ago the Republican governor who is running for re-election this time won the state by only 8,000 actual majority, though he had a larger plurality in the three-cornered race. Remember also that about every 20 years, Maine elects a Democratic governor. It happened in 1914 and it happened in 1934. It might be said to be due in 1954 from the standpoint of a cycle, and if we win it will be very close."

"Has McCarthy been an issue in the campaign for senator?" Was the next question, inasmuch as Mrs. Smith is known as a critic of the Wisconsin senator.

"It has hardly been mentioned at all. The Democrats have kept quiet about it, presuming of course that they might get disaffected Republicans that way, and the Republicans have said nothing in order not to lose votes. But it is interesting that it hasn't been an issue so far as the campaign itself is concerned."

"Do you think there'll be a big stay-at-home among the Republicans, particularly the Taft wing of the party?"

HURRICANE IS FACTOR

"I don't think we'll be able to tell the reason if there's any falling off in the Republican vote, because, you see, we have just had a hurricane here in Maine and the roads are still pretty bad."

"But will not the Democrats have the same trouble getting to the polls as the Republicans?"

"No" was the reply. "Most of the Democratic votes are concentrated in the cities, while the heaviest Republican vote is in the rural areas."

"So you look for a Republican victory for senator and a close race for governor?"

"That's it, but whether or not you will be able to construe it as a national trend is something else. For remember that Mrs. Smith is a popular candidate, and while the gossip is that she is provoked because Mrs. Roosevelt endorsed her Democratic opponent, she may still get many Democratic votes."

"Has the Democratic party put up a strong campaign?"

"Yes, they have had plenty of money for television, radio and so on."

"Where did they get it?"

"The gossip is that Averill Harriman has been helping, and some of his supporters hope to get Maine's delegates for him to the 1956 national Democratic convention."

So that was the confidential preview on Maine by a well-posted Republican leader after he had made a private canvass of the situation in talks with local leaders before the election.

HOW TO LOSE FRIENDS AND INFURIATE PEOPLE (Detroit Free Press)

Five hours after Ava Gardner reached Rio de Janeiro with a bevy of film functionaries and 16 pieces of luggage she got thrown out of her hotel as a public nuisance.

As she, her retinue and the baggage hit the sidewalk at 4:45 a. m., Ava declared "I will not stay another day in Brazil." Thereupon she promptly registered at another hotel—where the management cringed and began bawling it hatches.

On her arrival at the Rio de Janeiro airport Ava had been given a warm, rousing welcome. A furniture-breaking cocktail-hurling brawl was her way of showing appreciation for Brazilian friendliness and hospitality. Anybody have a question about why South Americans tend toward anti-Yankee demonstrations?

Between Reds And Formosa: U.S. Fleet Is Tough Barrier

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON —NEA—If the Chinese Communists attempt an invasion of Formosa, as they threaten, it will probably be the bloodiest naval engagement in history.

Bloody for the enemy, that is. Because the U. S. Seventh Fleet which is protecting the Strait of Formosa is one of the most alert and most powerful peacetime fighting forces Uncle Sam has ever maintained on the sea.

The only possible hope of success for Red leaders in such a venture would be to employ their favorite tactic of sacrificing unlimited numbers of men to gain an objective.

Reconnaissance by planes of the Seventh Fleet, and other intelligence information, indicates the Chinese Reds have massed an impressive invasion armada of junks, sampans and other small craft on the mainland coast.

Most of them are wooden vessels and have only make-shift armament. They range from small boats which might carry four or five men to big junks which can hold up to 200 soldiers.

The exact size and deployment of the Seventh Fleet arrayed against this junk fleet is a secret. But some fairly close estimates can be made of its minimum size. Four large carriers—the Boxer, Philippine Sea, Hornet and Yorktown—are the vital striking force of the fleet, although one or two are periodically out of the Formosa area.

They launch jets and prop planes which fire rockets, missiles, cannons and can drop A-bombs.

The normal force supporting four carriers is four or five heavy cruisers 16 to 24 destroyers and a varying assortment of smaller escort craft, mine layers, mine sweepers, seaplane units and smaller gunboat types. The fleet is supplied at sea from Japan.

New commander of the Seventh Fleet is Admiral Alfred M. Pride, a well-decorated veteran of the Pacific in World War II and former head of the Bureau of Aeronautics. He is a quiet, soft-spoken man of sound judgment, not one to make a mistake in any emergency which might develop around Formosa.

At the start of the Korean War, former President Truman ordered the fleet to "neutralize" the waters around Formosa. President Eisenhower amended this to give the Nationalists permission to make any strikes against the mainland, with the U. S. Navy continuing to defend the island against the Reds.

Officers who have been on the staff of the Seventh Fleet recently and have participated in the Formosa patrols have formulated a pretty good picture of the type of action that would take place "When those thousands of junks show up on the horizon."

"We'd use all of our guns and probably even fire mortars. Even the guns of the mine sweepers would be fired. We'd ram the wooden boats and set them afire with incendiary ammunition," one of them says.

"It would be unbelievable slaughter. The planes from the carriers would be fighting off the MIGs which would probably attack us. The other would be bombing and strafing the invasion boats."

Even if the Reds managed to get a force through that kind of defense and make a beach head on Formosa, the fleet could continue to bombard enemy forces and keep them from getting supplies.

The Navy says the Chinese Reds have no submarines, but that the Russians do have about 100 undersea craft operating in the area. If the Russians used their subs in this effort the Seventh Fleet would be hurt. But it has extensive anti-sub weapons.

The distance across the Strait is about 95 miles, a long trip or ROSES FOR MALENKOV—Some people do the darndest things. Witness the recent action of the California State Florists' Association in convention at San Diego. The florists sent Premier Malenkov of Russia 17 white roses—one for him and one for each of his top bananas in the Communist government.

The white roses, said the florists, represent the "hopes of the Western World for peace." Although they were sent air express, no doubt they will be slightly wilted on arrival. That, too, will be typical of Western hopes for peace.

Now if the florists had sprinkled the roses with sneeze powder or something equally annoying their motive would be understandable. But just to send some roses and a sincere message of hope for peace to the Kremlin sounds as pointless as tying pretty ribbons on a machine gun.

What will Premier Malenkov say when an aide reports: "Mr. Premier, a package of white roses has been received from America?"

Rubbing his hands delightedly, Malenkov will chuckle: "The decaying Capitalist country is crumbling! They send us roses, comrade—we will give them our love. Take a letter! Let's see, how shall we start? Oh yes—

"Dear Comrades in Peace: "Peace, it's beautiful. So are the roses. We'll drop in some day to thank you personally. Meanwhile—Russia is Red, Capitalism is Blue, lets all get together and make yours Red, too. Love Papa Malenkov."

BREAKING THE BARRIER—The possibility of establishing better understanding between the people of Russia and the United States now appears remote.

Even if it were possible to send white roses to every Russian, with a personal message attached, the international atmosphere is so charged with distrust that little good would come of the peace offering.

Whether coexistence is desirable is beside the point, for under present conditions of mutual distrust it is impossible to establish. Even if Americans were so inclined, they cannot accept the Communist idea of cooperation: To smile while being absorbed (peacefully or otherwise) into an ideology incompatible with freedom.

The misunderstanding is deep and tragically becoming insurmountable. There appears to be no common ground on which to meet except that of war.

In both countries there are those who cry out in warlike voices for warlike deeds; and in both countries there can be heard voices urging caution and negotiation and peace. No doubt the people of Russia are torn apart as they are in this country by the opposing counsel.

And so our guns and bombs accumulate as we prepare—for what? The roses we send to Malenkov may be a sincere gesture, but the prospect of peace is indeed remote.

THE TIME AND PLACE—There is the possibility, noted by President Eisenhower and worth more than a passing thought, that for years to come we will have neither peace nor war but only a period of preparedness for either.

Under present conditions this may be the best thing that could happen to the world, for such a stalemate might provide the opportunity for better understanding—and peace.

It could also mean that it will provide only the choosing of a time and place for war. The risk is worth the taking, nonetheless, because the future is unforeseeable and peace most desirable.

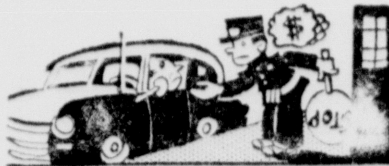

Rashly to plunge into war may appear the only solution to many; but it could also touch off forces of destruction so great and so ruthless that civilization itself would be destroyed.

As there is a time and place for war, there is also a time and place for peace—and that time may be but around the corner not yet turned, the situation not yet resolved, the weight of world opinion not yet measured.

So we wait to see what will happen, and we send 17 white roses to Red Russia and express a hope for peace. One might wish that a group of Russians would be free to respond with a gift of roses to President Eisenhower.

Gregory Stoneman was found dead beside the swimming pool of the Carlson place in San Francisco.

THE STORY: Private Detective Jim Dunn had just returned from his honeymoon, when he is requested by Mrs. Kit Carlson "to get something" on her mother-in-law. Dunn's secretary, Miss Wister, warns him not to have anything to do with the case.

(II)

It was 7 o'clock when Jim Dunn drove through the last of the traffic and glare of Westwood and headed toward the mountains of the Morrison road.

Jim smiled at his bride. He felt he could spend the rest of his life smiling at her. Built on a miniature scale, standing only five feet in her toast-colored sandals which matched a short fleece coat, she was nevertheless perfectly proportioned. She wore a long, full, high-waisted skirt of Navajo stripes in apple green, yellow and black, a white peasant blouse with short puffed sleeves and yellow ribbons run through eyelets around the neck. She showed no evidence of the hasty job she had done in uprooting their belongings from an apartment she had only begun to arrange.

"You weren't definite over the phone. Says you, 'Nancy, would you like to go with me on a job in the mountains that may last for a month or so?' What would you have done if I'd said no?"

"Missed you a lot," Jim said.

"Why, you viper! Is Mrs. Carlson pretty?"

"I suppose you might say so. And she's determined."

Nancy settled herself more comfortably. "I don't suppose I have to be jealous. But, Jim, are you one of those who thinks the high places bring out the worst in people?"

"Or the best," Jim amended. "And from the location this might be pretty rugged country. Some people can't take it. Some people just plain don't like the mountains, but do all right in cities."

Nancy filed her husband's opinions away for future reference.

"At that," Jim went on, "I guess our client has had her share of trouble. I suppose you've heard of the Denver family, the Carlsons?"

Certainly. You can't live in Colorado and not hear of them. The clan is headed now by old Mrs. J. Oswald Carlson. It wasn't long ago a paper had an article about how much better old-fashioned ways of bringing up children were. It cited the wonderful achievements of the Carlson tribe as an example of the happiness and success which comes from use of a whip and not spoiling the child. There was even a picture of a famed whip that Grandpa Carlson used to use — "The Carlson Conscience."

Jim Dunn said bluntly, "That sounds nuts."

Nancy shook her head decisively. "Historical. A museum piece. Just think of the importance of the switch that snarled young Carlson backs when Colorado was still Jefferson Territory! Think of the trouble saved if you have your conscience hanging on the wall where it won't bother you too often."

Jim could see where that might bring difficulties. He remembered Miss Wister's warning that the Carlsons were trouble. He said, "Anyway, our client is married to the great-grandson of the whip framer."

Nancy nodded. "Mrs. J. Peter Carlson, formerly Kit Zugsmith of San Francisco."

"Maybe you know more about this than I do," Jim suggested.

"Not about the death in California, dear."

"One thing more," Jim smiled. "Maybe you can tell me what the J. in front of all the men's names stands for?"

"Certainly. It stands for Juniper. From the old Juniper mine above Fairplay, Grandpa, or great-grandpa if you want to be completely accurate, swindled somebody out of the Juniper claim and started the Carlson fortunes. And just to tie things up neatly, the willow switch, which now rates newspaper articles as the Carlson Conscience was cut from the creek-bank on the claim."

"Must be pretty well dried up by now. Oh, I get it," he went on quickly as his wife smiled. "So is the 'Carlson conscience—with a little c?'"

"Right. But go on with your part."

Jim chuckled, then sobered instantly, launched into the facts gathered from his telephone talk.

"A man, a Gregory Stoneman, was found dead beside the swimming pool of the Carlson place in San Francisco. Fractured skull. There were two used highball glasses on a nearby table. The man's fingerprints were on both glasses, and only his. The death was investigated by the San Francisco police with Captain Steve Johnson himself taking charge. You've heard me speak of him?"

"Probably," Nancy said. "You're always talking about cops. Oh, I know. He's the one you met at Horseshoe Lake here in Colorado?"

"Right. At any rate, the investigation brought out no facts that were inconsistent with the death being due to a drunken fall."

"If the San Francisco police are satisfied, so am I. I suppose your client told you this?"

"I phoned Captain Johnson."

"You don't trust this Mrs. Kit Carlson?"

"No reason I shouldn't," Jim said. He amended the statement.

"Or maybe there is one reason. Miss Wister doesn't like her."

They started up the Turkey Creek grade before she spoke.

"Jim, Miss Wister is in love with you, isn't she?"

Dunn almost missed the first hairpin turn. "For heaven's sake! Nancy, are you going to be the kind of wife who thinks all women are after her husband?"

"Of course," Nancy said placidly. "It compensates for any doubts about my sanity in tying myself to one man."

"Frankly," Jim said, "that's a little confused. But don't explain it. But to get back to San Francisco. The death was finally written down as accidental. The man, Gregory Stoneman, was employed as a gardener on the estate. I guess that's about all."

"Don't be like that," Nancy said. "If he was a gardener, what was he doing at the swimming pool? And why the used glasses, the evidence of some sort of a party? I suppose this gardener was handsome?"

"Yes. Unfortunately for our client. Particularly since our client was alone in the house at the time. Alone, that is, with one vitally important exception. Mrs. Gelstrap, the cook. She swore that Mrs. Kit had not left her rooms, had not gone swimming, had not been in the pool, and never went near the swimming pool. Captain Johnson couldn't break her story."

"Sounds like a pleasant mess," Nancy said. "Jim you haven't told me in so many words just what our job is supposed to be?"

"We're to give Mrs. Carlson our protection. And we're supposed to get something on mama. On Mrs. J. Hilton Carlson."

"Let's see if I can spell it out for myself," Nancy said slowly.

"Scandal and gossip about Mrs. Kit. She hires us to get some dirt on her mother-in-law. A counter-offensive obviously. Are Mrs. Kit and her new husband separated?"

"Not to my knowledge," Jim said. "They weren't together in the office, but he's in the background at least. No, I'd say mama-in-law is just doing her best to break things up. Must be that, or we wouldn't have been hired to—"

"Happy thought," Jim admitted. "We have a lot of things to find out."

"Some mess," Nancy said. "If there wasn't a mess," Dunn said carefully, "clients wouldn't bother hiring a private detective. Incidentally, did I tell you we're supposed to be caretakers? And that maybe you'll find a few little things to do around the house for Mrs. Kit?"

"Oh, brother," Nancy said. "Now that really sounds good! A continuation of our honeymoon, you said."

"Don't be like that," Jim said. It sounded rather a weak remark, even to him. He blew the horn on a blind curve kept blowing it just for a break in that line of talk.

Nancy pulled his hand away at last. "I suppose the whole Carlson tribe is waiting for us?"

"Well, no," Jim admitted. "We're supposed to drive to Creek Junction, a little place on a side highway. We pick up keys there. Our client 'bought' a place this afternoon. A place adjoining or a part of the Carlson estate. But look at the papers. They're all there in the glove compartment."

Nancy pulled open the compartment. The envelope of papers was handed down by Jim's holstered

gun. "Can't carry it any more," Jim reminded. "A new state law prohibits private operatives from carrying concealed weapons."

Nancy had the papers out, was using the dash light for a quick study. "Plenty of instructions," she admitted. "And a deed, Jim. In the name of Mrs. Gelstrap."

"The cook in the case," Jim said needlessly.

"And the previous owner, J. Peter Carlson. Something's wrong here, Jim."

Fishing Harvest Not Up To 1952

LANSING (AP)—The 1953 commercial fish harvest of Michigan waters of the Great Lakes was below 1952 by more than four million pounds but close to the 30-year average, the Conservation Department reported today.

Completing compilation of commercial fishermen's reports the department said the 1953 catch totaled 25,012,789 pounds for which the fishermen received $3,314,696.

This compared to 29,231,823 pounds valued at $4,161,836 the year before. Since 1920, the annual commercial fish production has averaged about 26 million pounds. Lake Michigan was the most productive in 1953 with a total catch of 15,874,756 pounds. Lake Superior 5,843,175 and Lake Erie 1,395,273.

The fishermen reported catching 25 species of fish with herring leading the list. Other species were smelt, chubs, carp, lake trout, whitefish, suckers and yellow perch in that order.

Four Plane Tragedy Survivors Brought Back From Greenland

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. (AP)—An Air Force evacuation plane landed here early today with four injured Canadians and the body of a fifth who died a few hours earlier after all had survived a plane crash in Greenland.

The five were the only survivors of 15 aboard a U. S. Air Force Globemaster which crashed and burned during an emergency landing at Thule, Greenland, Sunday. (None of the dead was from Michigan.)

The plane crash took the lives of the eight-man crew of the American Air Force's C124 and two of seven Canadian civilians aboard. Maj. Alden G. Glauch of Traverse City, Mich., pilot of the evacuation plane, pushed his medically-equipped craft to an average of about 302 miles per hour in making the round trip between Westover and Thule in 18 1/2 hours. The 5,600-mile trip normally takes 24 hours.

Algeria Counts 1,340 Dead In Earthquake As Tremors Continue

PARIS (AP)—Two moderate earth shocks rattled shattered Orleansville today as the area still counted dead from North Africa's severe earthquake five days ago. No new damage was reported from the latest tremors.

There have been continuing small tremors since the shattering blow Thursday morning.

Communist Ban Law Challenged

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communist party has won its bid for new arguments, in the light of a 1954 act of Congress directed at it, on a government order that it register as being controlled in Moscow.

That order was issued by the subversive activities control board under the 1950 Internal Security Act, which provides that Communist action groups shall register with the Justice Department. They are required to list officers and members and disclose their financing.

The Communist party has challenged the constitutionality of the act and of the SACB procedure in a case almost certain to go ultimately to the Supreme Court for decision.

The local U. S. Court of Appeals heard arguments on the case last spring, and was expected to rule sometime this fall.

The party, however, asked for new arguments in the light of the Communist Control Act of 1954. That law, passed hurriedly just before Congress adjourned, stated that the Communist party should not be permitted the rights, privileges or immunities of a normal political party.

The Court of Appeals called Monday for new arguments, starting Oct. 21, on the case and said they should cover, among other things, the effect of the new act on the case. Briefs are to be submitted prior to that.

Mrs. Mahon described the importance of a two-fold program for the 7th annual U. N. Day observance, which this year falls on Sunday. The spiritual significance of the day and the humanitarian aspects of the U. N. program can be most effectively combined, she said.

She pointed out that on Oct. 24 the people in 80 countries of the world will join in observance of U. N. Day.

Reuther Backs Big CIO Merger

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Walter Reuther, president of the CIO, Monday night called for the merger of two big CIO unions — United Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers and Oil Workers International — to more effectively bring additional industry workers into the union fold.

His comments on the merger came during a speech before the convention of the chemical workers here. The union is scheduled to vote on the merger during their meeting which ends Thursday.

The oil workers will vote on the proposed merger at their November meeting. Presidents of both unions have approved the merger.

Reuther, who also was critical of the national tax revision, said: "You can't crack the basic industries with a fringe approach. This merger transcends politics. It is concerned on how to put together the tools and the machinery to build your union."

The chemical workers have a membership of about 5,000 while the oil workers have some 95,000 members.

"The biggest segment of your industry is yet unorganized," Reuther said.

Britain Has Plan To Add West Germany And Italy To NATO

aid of its partners in case of an attack, but each country is allowed its own national army.

2. Additional safeguards proposed by Britain would keep a lid on German rearmament. NATO would be empowered to set a ceiling on the size of national armies and inspect their forces. A European or Atlantic arms pool would be formed, with an international board of commissioners limiting production and carrying out inspections.

3. Britain would be committed to share equally in the defense arrangements. One of the chief French objections to EDC was that Britain stood apart from actual membership. The French feared that without Britain alongside, they would be at the mercy of their old German foes.

Upset In Maine Steals Spotlight From 9 Primaries

ribbed Republican Maine today—the first of his party to win any major office here in 20 years.

Edmund S. Muskie, 39-year-old Democratic national committeeman, defeated Gov. Burton M. Cross, 51, in Monday's first state election of 1954.

In modern times, no other GOP governor has ever been denied a second term.

The GOP sent Margaret Chase Smith back to the Senate for a second term and kept its three representatives in their seats.

Their margins were far from the "greater than ever" majorities asked by Vice President Nixon to "set a standard for the rest of the country in November."

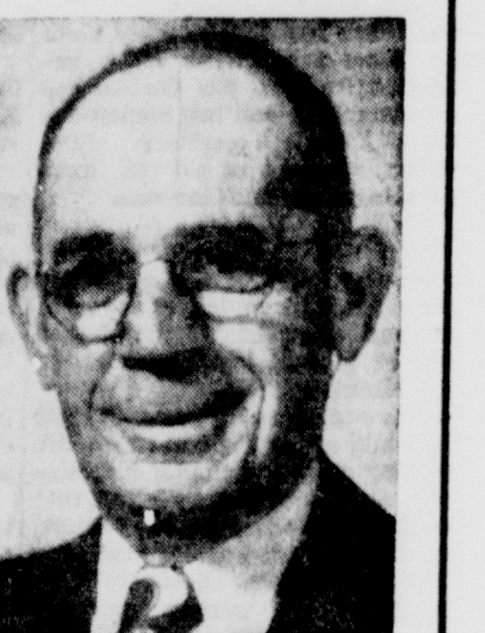

Muskie, an attorney, in his first try for state office, polled almost 55 per cent of more than 248,000 votes. That's about what the late Gov. Louis J. Brann (D) did in winning a second term in 1934.

Brann was governor from 1933 to 1937, during which time Republicans sat in the U. S. Senate. But there were two Maine Democrats in the House during Brann's first term and one in his second.

"To the unknown
Operator who saved
my life..."

That's how the letter began. It was sent to Michigan Bell by Mrs. Ida Vaughn of Ann Arbor. Here's why.

One evening, Mrs. Vaughn, who then lived alone, suffered a severe heart attack. She was able to reach her telephone but was choking so badly she operator could hardly understand her.

The operator checked the address and notified the hospital. Then she learned the family doctor's name from Mrs. Vaughn and telephoned him.

She asked if there were any relatives she should call. Mrs. Vaughn gave the name of her daughter. The operator called her and soon she was on the way to the hospital with her mother.

Mrs. Vaughn's letter ended this way,

"I frankly do not think I would be living today if that operator had not been on the job that evening. Many, many thanks for wonderful service at a time when most needed."

The "unknown" operator is no longer unknown to Mrs. Vaughn, of course. She is Mrs. Bonnie Walker.

For her alertness, presence of mind and resourcefulness she has been awarded a Vail Citation, a telephone company award for outstanding service.

No Action Taken On Rezoning Bid

No decision was reached on the request of Earl Bunno to rezone Part 2 or the Assessor's Plat from Class A residential to business following public hearing at Monday night's meeting of the City Commission. After considerable discussion the matter was tabled until the next regular meeting.

Bunno wishes to use the property as the site of a gas station. He advised the commission that he had talked to James T. Jones who donated the property to the city for park or residential purposes and declared that Mr. Jones had told him he would neither oppose nor assist in the rezoning.

Letters from Mrs. Ruth J. Forester and Miss Alvina Anderson objecting to any change from Class A residential use were read. City Manager H. J. Henrikson said he had talked to the chairman of the zoning committee and it was indicated that the committee favored use of everything on Lake Shore Drive west of 13th St., for tourist purposes.

Commissioner Archie Cowen suggested that Mr. Jones be contacted by the City Manager before the next meeting to learn definitely his attitude at the present time.

A petition for sewers, both main and laterals, on Dakota between 17th and 18th Streets was received and public hearing on the project was set for the next regular meeting of the commission on Sept. 27.

Fete Directors Of Scout Corps

Directors of the Manistique Boy Scout Drum and Bugle Corps, sponsored by the American Legion, were honored at a banquet and program Saturday night by Manistique Lodge No. 632, B. P. O. Elks. The event was held at the Elks Temple.

Speakers at the program included Clifford Cool, commander of the Manistique post of the American Legion; Earl H. LeBrasseur, Elks exalted ruler; Harvey Quick, of the Legion post; and O. J. Schuster.

Louis Rogers, director of the drum and bugle corps, and Peter Reque, assistant director, spoke briefly in response. Two members of the corps—Jon Schuster and Robert (Skip) Corson—also responded in behalf of the corps.

Quick detailed the history of the corps since its organization about three years ago and listed members of the Legion committee which has charge of it. They are: Roy Anderson, secretary; Don Martin, treasurer; Emery Barnes, ways and means; William Cowman, transportation; and William Blowers, quartermaster.

He said that the corps had been adjudged the best unit in the Upper Peninsula Lions Convention parade at Escanaba last June; had been a big hit at the Fourth of July celebration later in August; won first in junior competition at the U. P. American Legion convention in Calumet and also had been adjudged the best unit in the convention parade; and drew commendation from Governor G. Mennen Williams by its performance at Camp Grayling in August.

A letter from Gov. Williams and another from the Charles Young Drum and Bugle corps at Detroit, both commending the local musical group, were read by the speaker.

The Charles Young group performed at both L'Anse and Manistique for Fourth of July celebrations this year. It is considered the outstanding drum and bugle corps of the state.

An assortment of gifts provided by local merchants was presented to the directors by Harvey Quick and Capt. E. J. Doyle. Lionel Tyrrell, one of the corps assistant directors, and his wife were unable to be present at the testimonial event. Also unable to attend was Mrs. Louis Rogers.

Fred H. Mahne, who was banquet chairman, officiated as toastmaster.

Heroic Finland Grateful For Friendship Of West

Little Finland, ravaged by two wars, crippled by an unfair Russian reparations bill, fearful of its future, is still grateful for the friendship of the west and for the freedom it has managed to retain.

This, in brief, was the picture of the heroic little nation presented Monday noon to Manistique Rotarians by Miss Helvi Walkonen, a former English teacher in Manistique High School, who recently spent considerable time in Finland visiting relatives.

Miss Walkonen, who also spent last year teaching in Munich, Germany, described the travail which Finland suffered, first in its war against giant Russia and later when the little nation was forced to fight Russia again as a partner of Nazi Germany.

Even when compelled by circumstances to fight with Germany as an ally, the sympathy of Finland was with Great Britain and the United States, Miss Walkonen said.

She told of Finland's losses in the two wars—90,000 war dead, 170,000 wounded, 500,000 refugees to care for after Russia tore a large section of the little country away. Finland suffered again after she was forced in 1944 to patch up a truce with Russia, she said, because the enraged Germans destroyed everything they could before pulling out.

She compared Finland's reparations bill from Russia with the one the Soviets handed Italy, a nation over 10 times larger than Finland. The Italian bill was $360,000,000. Finland's $800,000,000. Italy was given two years before she needed to make first payment, Finland had to start paying immediately.

The speaker described the diabolical cleverness of the Russians in demanding from Finland payment in machinery and ships, items which the little country was not equipped to build. Moreover, she said, Russia paid indecently low prices for imports from Finland, charged Finland outrageously high prices for Russian products.

In making reparations payments the Finns, too, were harassed by Russian inspectors who rejected Finnish goods for flimsy causes or changed rules without notifying the Finns, Miss Walkonen said.

Yet Finland succeeded in making its reparations payments in full by its 1952 deadline, the speaker noted.

Finland was forced to give up 11 percent of its territory to Russia, the Russians forced Finland to grant a 50-year lease on a peninsula near Helsinki on which the Reds have built a naval base, newspapers and radios are subject to some Russian censorship—yet the Finnish people are grateful for the goodwill of the West and for the liberties they still enjoy, the speaker said.

But they dare not think of the future, she said. Caught between two vast military forces—the East and West—Finland knows that it will be victim again if the two forces ever clash.

Miss Walkonen was introduced by Carl Olson, Manistique high school principal.

Pastors Oppose Lottery Proposal

The Manistique Ministerial Association, at a meeting Sept. 13, went on record as opposing a proposed amendment to section 33, article V, of the state constitution which would legalize lottery by non-profit charitable organizations.

According to the association, this action concurs with previous stands taken by the Michigan Council of Churches and the Detroit Council of Churches. These two councils include nearly all the major denominations in the state.

Commenting on its action, officials of the local ministerial group said: "The issue is not just a matter of what has been referred to by some people as harmless bingo. The word 'bingo' and the expression 'charitable bingo' do not appear anywhere in the text of the proposal. The churches believe that approval of the amendment would open the way to the use of any kind of lottery in Michigan and the sale in Michigan of lottery tickets regardless of where and under what conditions the lottery itself is conducted.

"The churches have been unyielding in their opposition to gambling. This approval of lotteries for charitable purposes might well lead to a dangerous penetration of Michigan by gangster gambling syndicates. Virgil Peterson, operating director of the Chicago Crime Commission, has written in 'Gambling, Should It Be Legalized?' in regards to the experience of Massachusetts: 'Gambling tears took advantage of the law by establishing . . . dummy charities and engaged in large-scale commercial activities' and 'wherever any form of gambling is legalized, the illegitimate offspring of legalized gambling increased by leaps and bounds.'"

Escanaba Catholic Central, newcomer on the Upper Peninsula prep scene this year, will not only leave the state for one of its football games, it will leave the country . . . Coach Tom St. Germain's Central gridders will travel to Soo, Canada, on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 25 . . . The home game against Calumet, originally scheduled for that day, has been shifted to Oct. 2.

Menominee is one of the last of the Upper Peninsula football teams to embark on the 1954 campaign . . . Coach Ken Radick's Maroons will open the season at Janesville, Wis., Friday night . . . Radick, who announced his retirement at the close of last season but changed his mind this summer, is working with a varsity squad of 37.

Stambaugh, Central Catholic's Saturday night foe, appears to be well set again this year . . . The Hilltoppers, working from a T for the first time since Coach Willard Anderson took over the reins in 1935, defeated highly-regarded Negaunee 26-13 in the opener and triumphed Norway 39-14 last weekend.

The Manistique Emeralds will be trying to keep their goal line unblemished when they entertain Negaunee in another Great Lakes Conference clash Friday night . . . Coach Dick Bonifas' boys blanked Ishpeming 21-0 in the opener and drubbed Stephenson 39-0 Friday night.

For Green Bay East, the Escanaba game Friday night will open the 1954 season . . . Coach Al Reed has 14 lettered returnees on his squad, most of them backs . . . Escanaba is the only Upper Peninsula foe on East's schedule this season.

Rock's new coach Robert Pelkie of Gwinn will be getting his baptism in the coaching ranks when the Little Giants play host to Bark River Saturday . . . Ed Rutkowski, Bark River mentor, got his last Saturday against Crystal Falls . . . Pelkie is a graduate of Northern where he earned letters in football and basketball.

Most Area Football Teams Hit The Road

Travel For Weekend Games

Games Friday
Escanaba at Green Bay East
Carney at Powers
Bark River at Rock (1:30)
Negaunee at Manistique
Games Saturday
Catholic Central at Stambaugh (8:30)
Gladstone at Munising
Stephenson at Iron Mountain

Road trips are in order for most Escanaba area football teams this weekend as the Upper Peninsula grid season swings into the third week of action.

Longest trip is on tap for the Escanaba Eskymos who travel to Green Bay East Friday night. The game will open East's 1954 season but will be the third for the Eskymos who lost to Ironwood, 13-6, and Soo, 6-0, in two starts.

Catholic Central will be at Stambaugh Saturday night to face Coach Willard Anderson's Hilltoppers. Central opened the season with a come-from-behind 12-9 win over Gladstone Saturday afternoon. Stambaugh has a pair of impressive wins over Negaunee and Norway on the 1954 record.

Two Shutouts
Coach Dick Bonifas' Manistique Emeralds, who looked good in a pair of shutout victories over Ishpeming and Stephenson, will entertain the Negaunee Miners, highly rated Great Lakes Conference team Friday night.

Rock plays its first game of the season Friday afternoon at 1:30 against Bark River. The visiting Broncos lost 34-0 to Crystal Falls Saturday.

Powers opens the season at home to Carney Friday afternoon. Coach Don Pfotenbauer's Braves will travel to Munising Saturday afternoon to face the Mustangs. Coach Pete Tinsley's Munising team lost to Soo 20-7 in the opener but came back to wallop Marquette 46-6 Saturday. That score is the highest run up in the Peninsula to date.

Eskymo coach Joe Milokna announced this week the probable loss of another varsity griddier, Dave Viaw, starting fullback in the season opener at Ironwood, has been advised by doctors to drop football because of a collar bone break suffered last season.

The Eskymos previously lost the services of halfback Ricky Erickson with a brain concussion.

Seeking Revenge
Central will be seeking its first win over Stambaugh when the teams clash on the Hilltoppers gridiron Saturday night. In the past two years Stambaugh has won handily over the St. Joe Trojans, who were absorbed by the new Catholic high school this year.

Gladstone will be seeking revenge for a 6-0 loss suffered to Munising last season.

Manistique will also be trying for revenge. The Emeralds were defeated by Negaunee 14-6 last year in a game that was delayed to the end of the season because of a polio epidemic.

And Stephenson lost to Iron Mountain last season, 18-0.

Among the other candidates are Roger Romseth, Richard Toyra, John Louman, Wayne Crossfield, Russell Lampinen, John Miljour, James Niemela, Matt Verbrugghe, Gerald Salmi, Edward Perkins, Ronald Koski, Ronald Weldum and Curtis Ramseth.

Rock has a six game schedule this season, as follows:
Sept. 17—Bark River here
Sept. 24—Powers there
Oct. 2—Florence there
Oct. 8—Gladstone B here
Oct. 22—J. D. Pierce here

Lions Hear Football Coaches At Meeting

Head football coaches from Gladstone, Escanaba and Catholic Central high schools were guests of the Lions Club at its weekly dinner meeting at the Sherman Hotel last night.

Introduced by Ray Crandall, sports editor of the Daily Press, were Don Pfotenbauer of Gladstone, Joe Milokna of Escanaba, and Tom St. Germain of Central.

The coaches discussed their squads and schedules and answered questions from the audience.

Bronx Lightweight Beats Ralph Dupas

NEW YORK (AP)—Frankie Ryff, unbeaten Bronx lightweight with only 14 pro fights looks like title timber. The 22-year-old converted southpaw overpowered highly-rated Ralph Dupas, the No. 2 challenger, Monday night at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway.

Ryff who resumed his career in January after a two-year interruption for army duty, used a solid left hook and a crashing headlong style to whip the 18-year-old New Orleans schoolboy on a unanimous decision in eight rounds.

Look For Quick Finish In Heavyweight Battle

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—Boxing insiders, gathered here from near and far for the Rocky Marciano-Ezzard Charles heavyweight title fight Wednesday night at Yankee Stadium envision a short and explosive battle.

The general viewpoint of boxers, managers, trainers, and promoters was more of less summed up by Charley Johnston, manager of champions Archie Moore and Sandy Saddler.

Shoot The Works
"I think Charles will tear out and try for a quick knockout," said Johnston. "He'll probably shoot the works in an effort to cut Rocky's eye like he did in the first fight and try to put him away. You remember he did jar Marciano a couple of times early in the fight."

"If he doesn't get Rocky in six, he's going to get flattened himself," said Johnston.

The majority opinion, too, was that if there was going to be any flattening, Rocky would be the guy to do it.

Rocky Is Ready
Charles himself has indicated from time to time during his training that he planned to go right after the champion.

Marciano plans to be ready. "I've got a good 15-round fight under my belt now," said the 37-year-old champion. "I think my timing is much better now than the last time. I want to get off faster because I know he might try something early."

The odds are 5-12 that Rocky stops the 33-year-old ex-champion. There will be no home television of the fight.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT
By The Associated Press
Brooklyn—Frankie Ryff, 139½, New York, outpointed Ralph Dupas, 137½, New Orleans, 8.

New York—Bobby Jones, 156, Oakland, Calif., outpointed Jimmy Martinez, 152¾, Glendale, Ariz., 10.

Braves Have Final Chance Against New York Tonight

By BEN PHILEGAR

Associated Press Sports Writer

Opportunity knocks tonight for the last time for the Milwaukee Braves.

The injury-riddled third-place club limps into the Polo Grounds for its last three games with the league-leading New York Giants, knowing that it's win or else.

New York holds a four-game edge over both second-place Brooklyn and the Braves in the vital "games lost" column. By now this column tells the story more accurately than do "games behind" figures since the contenders each have played a different number of games.

Have To Lose Five

The Giants would have to lose 4 of their remaining 12 contests to be caught by either team and would need to drop 5 to be passed, even if the Braves and Dodgers won all the rest.

The Giants' front office flaunted its confidence by opening public sale of world series tickets today. The Braves move into New York after winning two out of three in Philadelphia. They took Monday night's game 7-4. The Giants edged the Cardinals 1-0 in an afternoon contest and Brooklyn wasn't scheduled. Pittsburgh shaded Cincinnati 6-5 in the only other major league action.

Adcock, Aaron Out
First baseman Joe Adcock and outfielder Hank Aaron definitely are out of the New York series. Two other Milwaukee regulars, third baseman Eddie Mathews and pitcher Gene Conley have been below par physically.

Adcock suffered a ruptured blood vessel in his wrist when he was hit by a pitch in Brooklyn Saturday. Aaron broke his leg a week ago. Mathews has a bum ankle and Conley, due to start tonight, is recovering from a bad back.

Catcher Del Crandall moved into the cleanup spot at Philadelphia Monday night and delivered three hits, two of them doubles, in five trips.

Antonelli Sharp
Ahead by only one run, the Braves wrapped it up with four tallies in the eighth.

Johnny Antonelli was in superb form with his five-hit shutout of the Cardinals. All of the hits against him were singles.

The Giants couldn't do much against rookie Gordon Jones but the one run they put together in the ninth on a double by Willie Mays and a single by Dusty Rhodes was enough.

The victory was No. 21 for the left-hander who came to the Giants from the Braves last winter.

Pirates pitcher Dick Littlefield singled home the winning run against the Reds Monday night. Ted Kluszewski's homer spree was stopped but he singled twice in four appearances.

Midwest Grid Notes

CHICAGO (AP)—Midwest football briefs.

Ohio State—Coach Woody Hayes says defense will be stressed this week because he was dissatisfied with Ohio State's defensive work in last Friday's scrimmage. . . . Nine players are on the injured list, including co-captain Dick Brubaker.

Minnesota—Coach Murray Warmath described Saturday's game scrimmage as rugged and unsatisfactory.

Iowa—The Hawkeyes practiced behind locked gates Monday for the first time this season. . . . Coach Forrest Evashevski declined to say what the squad worked on during the morning secret session.

Illinois—Coach Ray Eliot made three promotions among the Illini for good work in Saturday's scrimmage. Sophomore Hiles Stout of Peoria, Ill., was moved up to sharing the No. 2 spot at quarterback, end Dean Henn now shares the first string left end post, and Mike Guinan was shifted to No. 2 center.

Northwestern—Coach Bob Voigts pronounced his Wildcats in good condition physically and mentally for its opener against Iowa State a week from Saturday.

Michigan—Sophomores Jim Maddock and Terry Barr joined veterans Duncan McDonald and Lou Baldacci in doing most of the tossing during concentrated passing drills for the Wolverines. . . . Three sophomores looked impressive on the receiving end. . . . Ron Kramer, Tom Maentz and Mike Rotunno.

Michigan State—Coach Duffy Daugherty worked his Spartans on passing in the rain to give his backs and ends practice in handling a wet ball.

Wisconsin—Wisconsin went through a dummy scrimmage to get a good look at Marquette plays. The Warriors and the Badgers meet Sept. 25.

Purdue—Stu Holcomb's Boiler-makers will hold their first public scrimmage Friday. The first two teams will take on the rest of the squad in a regulation game.

Indiana—Coach Bernie Crummins gave the Hoosiers a rest from contact work. Seven players were on the injured list.

Marquette—The Warriors reviewed their offensive assignments as rain and class registration slowed their workout. Five men returned from the injured list: halfbacks Ray Zagar and Ed Mikan, fullback Dave Donarski, guard Sam Andrie and tackle Jim Pastorski.

Michigan Gridders Stress Pass Drills

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Passing drills with the emphasis on younger squad candidates featured Michigan's football practice Monday.

Sophomores Jim Maddock and Terry Barr teamed with veterans Duncan McDonald and Lou Baldacci to do most of the tossing. Coach Bennie Oosterbaan spent a good part of his time detailing the fine points to the younger men.

Looking impressive on the receiving end of the drills were Ron Kramer of East Detroit, Tom Maentz of Holland and Mike Rotunno of Canton, Ohio. All are sophomores.

Kluszewski Heads For Record Book

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski, former Indiana university football star, leads the National League in home runs with 48 and they might have to make room in the record books. The Redlegs have 11 games to play.

The 24-year-old mark for National League home runs, 56, is held by Hack Wilson of the Chicago Cubs. Babe Ruth's major league record is 60.

Marion Top Choice To Succeed Paul Richards

By JAMES DAILEY

CHICAGO (AP)—Marty Marion, former manager of the St. Louis Cardinals and Browns, appears to be top choice to succeed Paul Richards as manager of the Chicago White Sox if and when Paul decides to go with the Baltimore Orioles.

The one-time star shortstop of the Cardinals currently is Richards No. 1 assistant and coach of the Sox.

Richards has been unable to reach an agreement on a new Sox contract, and reportedly has committed himself to the dual job of building a winning club for the Orioles as field and general manager.

Kell Also Mentioned
In speculation over Richards' successor, the names of Phil Cavarretta, Charley Dressen and George Kell, also have been mentioned.

The Sox brought Cavarretta back into the big leagues as a utility player last May after he had been dismissed last spring as manager of the Chicago Cubs. He has become popular with the Sox fans and management as a successful fill-in for the injured Ferris Fain. Wednesday night, in fact, has been designated Cavarretta night at Comiskey Park and he is expected to receive even more than the usual array of gifts.

Dressen, former Brooklyn Dodger manager, has had a fairly successful year in lifting Oakland of the Pacific Coast League into the first division.

Kell, a former Detroit Tiger star third baseman, is currently with the Sox.

Was Most Valuable
The 36-year-old Marion played the Cardinals in 1940 and joined with them through 1950. He was named the National League's most valuable player in 1944.

After managing the Cards to a third place finish in 1951 he was fired, and a few days later was signed as a player-coach by Bill Veeck, then president of the Browns. In mid-season of 1952 he succeeded Rogers Hornsby as manager. The Browns finished seventh under Marion's leadership.

Marion was dismissed when the Browns became the Orioles, and subsequently was hired by the Sox.

Gophers Could Surprise With Able Quarterback For Split-T

By JERRY LISKA

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Murray Warmath, Minnesota's new football coach, is looking for "the guy with the stiffest jaw" to direct his unprecedented split-T Gopher attack. With an able quarterback, Minnesota could be a surprise.

Warmath has installed the system he employed with distinct success at Mississippi State at a school steeped in single wing tradition.

But the 41-year-old Gopher coach has no Jackie Parker, his Mississippi State whiz, to do the floating power tricks a split-T quarterback is supposed to do.

Three Candidates
Warmath has Geno Capannelletti, Dale Quist and Don Swanson scrambling for first call to spark a Gopher team that will have nine seniors in the starting lineup.

Quis is the best runner. Swanson is the best passer and ball handler, while Capannelletti is probably the coolest signal-caller and the squad's best place-kicker.

"We'll have growing pains for awhile," says Warmath. "We're experimenting to find out who belongs where."

The experiment surprisingly includes a test of Jerry Helgeson, rated one of the Big Ten's top centers last season, at guard. At the moment, Charles Stamschror, 198-pound senior, rates ahead of co-captain Helgeson at the pivot.

The left halfback spot will be handled by one of two sophomores, Bill Garner or Dick (Pinky) McNamara, brother of veteran right halfback Bob McNamara.

At fullback is another veteran, John Baumgartner, while lettermen are tabbed for all of the starting berths in the line. These include Ron Smith and Jim Soltan at ends, Gordon Holz and Charley Kubes at tackles, Bob Hagemeister and Rocky Elton at guards, and Stamschror at center.

With 22 returning lettermen in all, Warmath hopes to develop balance and depth to offset the loss of All-American Paul Giel, despite whose individual brilliance the Gophers finished last season with a 3-3-1 Big Ten record, good for fourth place.

The Gophers open Sept. 25 with Nebraska and then meet, in order, Pittsburgh, Northwestern, Illinois, Michigan, Michigan State, Oregon State, Iowa and Wisconsin.

Next: Purdue.

Sports Roundup

Inner sanctum stuff in the Big Ten is that Illinois won't schedule Iowa in football as long as Forest Evashevski is the Hawkeyes' head coach . . . because of the way Evvy snubbed the Illini's Ray Eliot in the traditional post-game handshake after Iowa was whopped a couple of years ago.

Irving Noren
Irving Noren of the Yanks looks like a guy about to sling a sledge hammer on a carnival strength testing machine every time he comes to the plate. . . . but the exaggerated practice cuts made him a batting title contender because they forced him to keep his elbows away from his body.

You've heard how perturbed Vic Wertz was after he committed two costly errors against the Yanks. . . . That same night, Mrs. Wertz went to see the hit show, "Pajama Game," on Broadway. . . . and had to leave midway through the second act—because she was still so upset over hubby's bob-

Note to Ezz Charles: We took on Rocky Marciano in training up at Grossinger's and some lively slugging revealed a possible weakness—the Rock can be had on his backhand. . . . if you're playing ping-pong, that is. . . .

A rival borscht circuit hostelry has offered Manager Al Weill $25,000 to have Marciano switch his training headquarters. . . . but could have had him for free a couple of years ago, just like Grossinger's. . . . The pavilion where Charles trains at Kulscher's is called the Palestra, the same as the fieldhouse at the University of Pennsylvania, host Milt Kutsher's alma mater.

Three late season rookie recalls—pitcher Gordon Jones of the Cards, shortstop Woody Held of the Yanks and third baseman Joe Kirrene of the White Sox—are all products of Sacramento, Calif. . . .

Not generally appreciated in the attention paid their bulging biceps is the fact that clouters Eddie Mathews, Jackie Jensen and Mickey Mantle are among the fastest runners in the game. . . . With Jackie leading the American League in stolen sacks, Mickey peerless at scrambling down to first base and Eddie just a shade behind teammate Bill Borton in sprinting.

The problem at Michigan State this season is not to rebuild the remnants of the Rose Bowl. . . . rather, the coaching staff which lost Biggie Munn, Steve Sebo and Earle Edwards. . . .

Bear Bryant at Texas A&M purposefully keeps his squads down to a wily 45 or so because "I don't want to wind up with 80 or 90 boys eating big steaks and not beating anybody." . . . Bear got a beat on the rest of the Southwest by taking his squad to the hills for pre-season practice, the first time it's been done in 15 years.

A Lou Groza would be worth $25,000 a year in Canadian football. . . . and the game is made to order for a spread-type back like Freddie Benner of SMU, says Coach Frank Clair of Toronto. . . . Les Richter, the ex-California All-American mauler down with the Los Angeles Rams at guard, won us some tight in two coaches. . . . is the feature that strikes me. You have to like this game to play it. I think the better college teams could use our desire. It's something to see."

Vale has a sophomore quarterback, Dean Loucks, who can pass with either hand. . . . and Phil Harris (this one chime signals for Rice) completed a phenomenal 94 passes in 124 attempts his senior season in high school. . . .

Between you'n'me, since the advent of night ball, there isn't a major leaguer left with a healthy tan. . . . nor those bronze-tinged veterans you used to see around ball parks. . . . (NFA Feature)

West decided to open a trump, and when the dummy was put down declarer must have felt very well satisfied. Certainly, he had every right to feel that way, but, excellent as his prospects were, he still should have realized that there was a chance of losing a trick.

Actually, South drew trumps, then led a low heart to the queen and discarded a spade on the ace of clubs, but when he tried to run the rest of the hearts he was severely shocked to find that West had the suit stopped. Desperate, South cashed the spade king and tried the finesse to the jack, but this lost and he ended up by going down two.

Candidate Leonard Stumps Peninsula

DETROIT (AP)—Donald S. Leonard, Republican nominee for governor, takes his campaign into the Upper Peninsula starting today with appearances in Baraga, Houghton, Ontonagon, Gogebic, Iron, Dickinson, Delta and Dickinson counties. He will return to the Upper Peninsula Sept. 21 with Vice President Nixon who speaks at Negaunee on that date.

Church Stays Closed

MADRID, Spain (AP)—The Spanish government has refused to permit the reopening of an American Baptist Church here despite a protest by the U. S. Embassy.

An embassy spokesman said Spanish police closed and sealed the church, which had an all-Spanish congregation July 17 on the ground that public proselytizing of Roman Catholics was being carried out. This is contrary to the Spanish bill of rights, which tolerates non-Catholic sects as long as no public manifestations are made.

TIME LOST

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP)—The town clock on the courthouse steeple had been showing the correct time on three faces and was an hour late on the fourth side. The city's building superintendent, James A. Sanford, who likes to know what time it is, climbed the steeple and found the cause—pigeons. He evicted them, plugged the port of entry, and the clock is again on time on all sides.

The only conceivable way of losing this grand-slam contract was to run up against a very bad heart break. To guard against that as well as possible, South should have won the third round of trumps in dummy, then cashed the club ace, discarding a spade. Now it could cost nothing to cash the king and ace of spades and ruff a third round, simply on the chance of dropping the queen. As may be seen, this is what would have happened, and now declarer could go to the heart queen and discard a heart on the established spade jack, thus avoiding any possibility of a heart loser.

Michigan Bell Crew Helps Repair Maine Hurricane Disruption

DETROIT (AP)—A task force of Michigan Bell Telephone Co. men and equipment was on its way to the hurricane-battered coast of Maine Monday to help restore disrupted communications.

Equipment was brought to Detroit from as far away as Chicago to make up the special train of 90 flat cars taking trucks and equipment to the New England area.

More than 300 Bell "trouble-shooters" left Detroit Sunday night in a special eastbound train.

The Detroit Edison Co. also sent 25 men by plane and four fully equipped work trucks by train to help repair torn power lines along the coast.
